April 12, 2016

Dear Colleagues:

Attached is your institution's invoice for 2016-2017 dues to the Council for Higher Education Accreditation (CHEA). We deeply appreciate the support our members provide to CHEA.

This year marks CHEA's 20th anniversary. CHEA's membership has grown to approximately 3,000 accredited colleges and universities, making us the largest U.S. higher education institutional membership organization and the only national organization focused exclusively on strengthening quality in higher education through accreditation.

Why does that number matter? It indicates a longstanding commitment by all types of colleges and universities to accreditation as our primary form of external quality review, CHEA's sole focus. That strong show of support – with public and private colleges and universities from all 50 states who are CHEA members – speaks volumes to legislators, regulators and media.

The challenges facing accreditation continue to grow. Members of Congress, media and even presidential candidates are questioning accreditation's value. The U.S. Department of Education seeks to involve itself more deeply in accreditation's operation, including academic judgments that will affect many of our institutions. All of this shows no sign of letting up in 2016-2017.

CHEA's work ranges from servicing as a voice for you on accreditation-related issues on Capitol Hill, to the Administration and at the state level, speaking out to media and the public on the value of accreditation and providing the most comprehensive, reliable information and research on accreditation to servicing as a national and international forum to address accreditation and quality assurance issues. CHEA's outspoken advocacy for accreditation and its value will be needed more than ever in the year ahead.

The attached invoice includes the first dues increase in five years; we have worked hard to keep CHEA membership dues modest and to keep dues increases infrequent. Please take a few minutes to complete and return this invoice by mail or fax, or use the "Electronic Renewal Form" found on the home page of the CHEA Website (www.chea.org).

Your institution's membership in CHEA is very important to us. Thank you and we look forward to working with you in 2016-2017.

Sincerely,

Judith Eaton
President
